

MADANI A. RANIA
CURRICULUM VITAE
DEPARTMENT OF ANTHROPOLOGY | UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA-TWIN CITIES
MINNEAPOLIS, MINNESOTA 55455 | madan037@umn.edu

Education:

Graduate student in the anthropology department, University of Minnesota, U.S
Master's degree in gender and development, Ahfad University for Women, Sudan.
Master's degree (not defended yet) in social anthropology, University of Khartoum.

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, MN Spring 2021
Teaching Assistant, Anthropology
Course: ANTH 1003W – Understanding Cultures (Instructor: Professor. Stuart Mclean)
University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, MN Fall 2020
Teaching Assistant, Anthropology
Course: ANTH 1003W – Understanding Cultures (Instructor: Dr. Hoon Song)
University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, MN Spring 2020
Teaching Assistant, Anthropology
Course: ANTH 1003W – Understanding Cultures (Instructor: Jen Hughes)
University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, MN Fall 2019
Teaching Assistant, Anthropology
Course: ANTH 1003W – Understanding Cultures (Instructor: Professor. Stuart Mclean)
University of Bahri, Khartoum, Sudan
Lecturer, Sociology & Anthropology Department August 2011 – July 2019
University of Bahri, Sudan.
Teaching Assistant, Sociology & Anthropology Department June 2010 – July 2011
University of Rumbek, Lakes State, South Sudan (before secession).

RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Research Assistant Sep 2014
“The importance of law reform: the impact of personal status law on women in Khartoum urban neighborhoods” Samia Elnagar, Associate professor
Researcher June 2014
“The impact of conflict on women's livelihoods at the Blue Nile – Damazin”
Advisor: Gumaa Kunda Kmey, Associate professor (Published work)
Research Assistant Feb 2015
“Annotated bibliography of social research on the Nuba Mountains”
Edited by Enrico Ille
National researcher
SIHA Network (Regional NGO) May 2015
“Rape dynamics and drivers in Khartoum and north Darfur”
Siri Lamoureaux, PHD, Max Planck Institute
Researcher August 2017
“Coping strategies of South Sudanese refugees in Jodah are, White Nile, Sudan”
Master thesis, Advisor: Professor Munzoul A. M. Assal, University of Khartoum.

PUBLICATIONS AND CONFERENCE PRESENTATIONS

Madani, Rania A. 2017. Women in conflict situations and their survival options: a Case Study from El- Damazin, Blue Nile, Sudan. Journal of Peace and Development 17(1): 78-99.

Madani, Rania A. Contributor. 2015. Nuba Mountains Bibliography. Ille, Enrico, Ed. With Konstantin Biehl, Amira al-Jizouli, and Jasmin Weinert. Straume, Norway: Chr. Michelsen Institute.

Madani, Rania A. 2018. "Strangers in their own countries: the problems faced by southerners who remained in the Sudan after the secession of the South in 2011". Conference on Borderland Dynamics: Anthropological Capacity Building in East African Universities. Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, July 1-5.

Madani, Rania A. 2017. "Coping strategies of South Sudanese refugees who remained in Sudan after secession" keynote lecture: Borderlands dynamics: anthropological capacity building in East African universities, National Conference on Borderlands. University of Khartoum at Khidir El-Sharif Hall, Khartoum, Nov 29-30.

Madani, Rania A. 2017. "Coping strategies of South Sudanese refugees in Jodah area: legal status, individual agency and accessibility to social services" key note lecture: Identity, Nationality and citizenship for South Sudanese communities' conference. University of Khartoum at Shariqa hall, Khartoum, Sep 4 – 5.

Madani, Rania A. 2015. "Women in Conflict Situations and their Survival Options: A Case Study from El- Damazin, Blue Nile, Sudan" key note lecture. Towards a shift paradigm in conflict resolution in Sudan and South Sudan conference. University of Bahri, Grand Hollyday Villa, October 18.

TRAINING

Training in conflicts resolutions at the University of Bahri in collaboration with George Mason University – USA. 2015

Training workshop on gender and politics, Makerere University, Uganda, 2017.